

An index fund. The people who own it decide what goes in.

WHO IT'S FOR

Anyone who wants a diversified stake, without a manager.

YOU HOLD

GBX: a share of the fund, and a say in what it buys.

YOU GET BACK

Your share of the real assets, whichever ones you pick.

WHAT'S IN IT

Tokenized stocks, ETFs and crypto on Robinhood Chain.

One person, start to finish

Mara has $500 to invest. Every fund she finds hands her a finished basket and decides when she can leave.

Illustrative: Mara, the amounts and the mix are invented. Nothing has been bought yet.

1 She gets GBX

Mara buys $500 of GBX, the token that is both her share and her vote.

GBX

2 She points it

She stakes her GBX for sGBX and assigns it to the assets she wants bought.

sGBX

3 The fund buys

New dollars follow all holders' assignments. The price falls until a trader is willing to supply the asset.

Strategy

4 The basket grows

The asset joins the basket: everything holders have bought so far.

Fund

5 She takes her share

She burns her GBX and takes that exact share of the ones she picks. No desk, no notice.

How signaling works

Stake GBX for sGBX, then point it at the assets you want the fund to own. What it buys backs your GBX, and you can take your share of it out.

Every holder's sGBX is pooled, so the next dollar in splits the same way. Move yours any time.

WHAT IT ADDS UP TO

Nothing is sold, so the basket is every round so far.

What your share is worth

COMING OUT

Burn 1% of all GBX, get 1% of each asset you pick.

NEW GBX

Mining slots are always for sale, each price falling to zero over 1 hour. The buyer pays USDG and earns GBX until replaced: 80% of each payment repays the miner replaced, 20% is what the fund spends. Nobody is promised a replacement.
